Staying Hydrated during warm summer months:

Drinking Water Strategically

Start your day with a glass of water to replenish fluids lost overnight and boost metabolism and continue sipping water throughout the day rather than waiting until you feel thirsty, as thirst can lag behind actual dehydration levels. Carry a water bottle you enjoy using to encourage regular intake, and consider infusing water with fruits, vegetables, or herbs for flavor and added nutrients. Aim for roughly 8–13 cups of fluids daily, adjusting for activity, heat, and personal needs.

Living Water

Whenever you do something new, you have to contend with the mystery of the unknown. Sometimes the discovery of that mystery comes with excitement, fear or a combination of several emotions. That's what it was like for me the first time I went through Hezekiah's Tunnel in Jerusalem.
